JOHNSON
CONSTRUCTION & REMODELING

Built on relationships. Rooted in Fort Lauderdale.

Mike Johnson is a third-generation Floridian with deep roots in Fort Lauderdale and Pompano Beach, and a longstanding connection to the area's business and real estate community.

His father was a respected local Realtor, and Mike has spent decades in the construction industry, building his own business and reputation throughout South Florida.

Those local roots matter. Johnson Construction has been built largely through relationships, referrals and repeat clients rather than volume.

Mike intentionally manages a limited number of residential projects, so clients have direct access to the contractor responsible for their home — from early planning and preconstruction through the final details.

OWNER / GENERAL CONTRACTOR

Distinctive homes for exceptional lifestyles.

Seamlessly blending beauty, function and lifestyle.

From renovation to complete homes.

Renovations · Additions · Custom homes

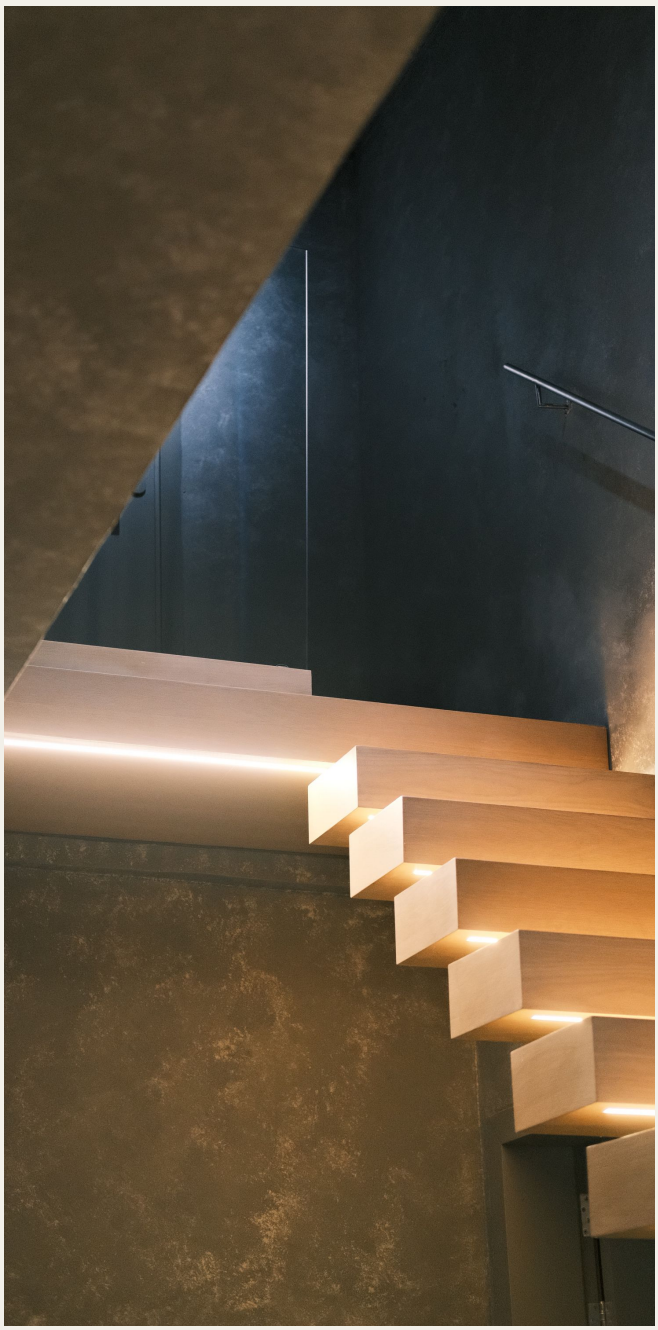

Johnson Construction's experience extends beyond individual rooms and finishes. From substantial renovations and additions to complete residential construction, the same focus remains: thoughtful planning, experienced coordination and direct accountability.

Craftsmanship in the details.

Quality is not limited to what you see when a project is finished. It begins with how the work is planned, coordinated and executed.

CONSTRUCTION & REMODELING

The JC&R approach.

A limited number of projects. A more personal level of involvement.

01

Craftsmanship

Experienced construction and attention to the details — how a project ultimately looks, feels and performs.

02

Coordination

Architects, designers, engineers, permitting, trades, scheduling and selections.

03

Accountability

Direct involvement from Michael Johnson — from early planning and preconstruction through completion and closeout.

04

Preconstruction-led

Early budgeting, scope development and coordination help clients make informed decisions before construction begins.

05

Personally managed

Clients have direct access to the contractor responsible for their project rather than being handed off after the contract is signed.

“

We had talked with Johnson Construction for many years about renovating our condo. Mike was very patient with us and we finally pulled the plug and had Johnson perform a complete renovation of our condominium. Mike made numerous suggestions that varied from our plan that made the project better than we had planned. His teams' attention to detail and the workmanship was top notch. His foreman on the job was aces and so helpful making what could be a stressful experience into one that was managed. As happens, we made numerous changes throughout the project and Mike and his team were very accommodating. The various trades he used were great and very responsive. While it was a significant investment, the quality of the finished project spoke for itself. We would use him again and recommend him to anyone else.
